

Messages from our Awards Partners

“The GLT Awards are a great opportunity to celebrate and support businesses and attractions of all sizes. The people working in this industry put in an incredible amount of effort to create memorable experiences for groups, so it’s really rewarding to be part of something that acknowledges and values their dedication.”

Ryan Howe, Warner Hotels

“It’s a pleasure to partner with the GLT Awards once again. The initiative is a great way of recognising the hard work and dedication of those driving the sector forward. Congratulations to all this year’s winners and finalists!”

Wayne Perks,
Ramble Worldwide

“Coach and tour operators are the lifeblood of the British group travel industry, and so it is a great pleasure to back an award that recognises these companies. Congratulations to everyone involved in this year’s awards programme!”

Paul Brandwood,
The Royal Mint

“Supporting the Group Leisure & Travel Awards is very important to us because it brings together the entire group travel community to celebrate the hard work of GTOs and suppliers. It offers us a unique opportunity to recognise achievements that inspire growth and development across the sector.”

Alan Rennie,
Ambassador Cruise Line

“Celebrating everyone in the industry is so important and it’s always such a great night, spent with colleagues and clients. It’s great for our team to be able to host and connect with our partners and acknowledge the year’s achievements.”

Josh Behn,
Disney Tickets

“Group travel is built on relationships, shared experiences and attention to detail, and the GLT Awards do a brilliant job of recognising that. At Blenheim Palace, we’re proud to support an initiative that shines a light on the people and organisations who consistently go above and beyond to make group visits so special.”

Sarah-Jayne Beasley, Blenheim Palace

“The Group Leisure & Travel Awards shine a spotlight on the best in group travel, including attractions, operators, destinations, suppliers and experiences for groups, and of course the GTOs who bring it all together for their members to have brilliant days out. It’s really important to celebrate the amazing talent that our industry has to offer.”

Charlotte Howle, Chester Zoo

“The whole team at the LEGOLAND® Windsor Resort are delighted to partner with the Group Leisure & Travel Awards for another year. It’s an excellent initiative highlighting the hard work and talent of the group travel industry, and the ceremony itself is always an evening to remember. I’d also like to congratulate all finalists and winners in advance for all your hard work to the industry we all love.”

Rupert Viney, Legoland

“It’s important for us to support the Group Leisure & Travel Awards as they represent groups across the UK. It’s great that the awards are voted by the readers of the Group Leisure & Travel magazine. It is always great to catch up and celebrate with fellow industry colleagues and clients of ours.”

Ben Delahunty-Jones,
Group Line

“The Group Leisure and Travel Awards are one of the key awards that recognises the amazing work that goes on every single day in our wonderful travel industry, which is why it’s so import for Daish’s to show our support. Every year I’m always struck by the wide variety of businesses and different sectors within tourism that are involved and recognised.”

Paul Harper, Daish’s Holidays

“Group travel remains a vital part of our audience at ABBA Voyage, allowing us to share this unique concert with visitors from across the UK and beyond. Supporting the Group Leisure & Travel Awards gives us the opportunity to recognise and thank the organisers who bring people together to create unforgettable memories at our concert like no other.”

Callum Hill, ABBA Voyage

“Supporting the Group Leisure & Travel Awards is our way of recognising the outstanding operators, attractions and individuals who go above and beyond to deliver exceptional experiences for groups. It’s vital to acknowledge their contributions, especially in a sector where relationships and customer satisfaction are key.”

Tracy Bayliss, LeShuttle

“It is important to me to support the Group Leisure & Travel Awards because it offers great ideas for the group holidays sector. My 25 years’ experience in the group travel market has shown me how important the Group Leisure & Travel Awards is to the groups business.”

Janine Akalley,
Plimbley Travel

“The Group Leisure & Travel Awards recognise both the contribution of suppliers and the amazing work that all Group Travel Organisers do. What stands out to me about the Awards is the opportunity it provides to spend time in the company of so many of our Group Travel Organisers at a very enjoyable night in the heart of London.”

Ellen Walker, Travel Editions

“It’s vital that we support the group travel industry as it is an essential part of our trade. The Group Leisure & Travel Awards is an ideal means of celebrating those driving the industry forward, and we’re so pleased to support an initiative like this.”

Graham Hopcraft,
DFDS

“The GLT Awards is part of our way of keeping in touch with others in group travel, seeing old friends and meeting new friends. What is it about the GLT Awards that stands out for me? The right people are recognised for what they contribute to travel.”

Sylvia Saxon,
The New Meridian

“Group Leisure & Travel give everyone a chance to be recognised and to support companies and attractions big or small. I have been employed as Group Sales Manager since 1996 and the GLT Awards have always played a big part in our annual calendar. I always look forward to this event every year and the support we receive from our customers.”

Mandy Hill,
Dunwood

“P&O Ferries have been proud to support the Group Leisure & Travel Awards for many years. As group travel is such an important part of P&O Ferries’ passenger business, we are delighted to continue supporting the industry across all of our routes from the UK.”

Pat Sowerbutts,
P&O Ferries

“It is our great pleasure to be involved with the Group Leisure & Travel Awards once again, and to support the prestigious award for Group Travel Organiser of the Year® is a real honour. Our congratulations go to this year’s winners and finalists.”
